For Immediate Release

CVR/IT Consulting LLC cross-licenses courseware with TANDEN LLC

Starting immediately, both companies are able to market a combined total of 55 courses and workshops in the fields of Project Management, Project Portfolio Management, Leadership and Business Analysis.

CVR/IT Consulting LLC, a Raleigh/Durham, NC based Project Management services and training company, announced today that it will cross-license 43 courses and workshops from its Project Management curriculum to Tanden LLC. Similarly Tanden, a Project Management services and training company based in Raleigh, NC, has agreed to license 12 of its courses and workshops to CVR/IT. Through this agreement, each company also gains access to the others' training staff for specified engagements.

Mastery of Project Management techniques is fast becoming the most widely sought key to success in many top industries today. Dr. Evans, with over two decades of project management experience, has been helping businesses and business professionals achieve their project and professional goals through advanced project management training and consulting since 2002.

The two companies will begin marketing each other's courseware starting in early 2009.
