FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CVR/IT Consulting LLC updates its Courseware licensing Service

The service, Courseware-On-Demand, is immediately available to qualified training providers.

Raleigh, NC December 9, 2018 – Available now, CVR-IT Consulting LLC announces that it has re-released its business courseware licensing service under a new name: Courseware-On-Demand.  The service makes available, to qualified training providers, training materials for numerous courses in Project Management, Business Analysis, and Project Portfolio Management. The new release includes a new pricing structure, price reductions, and an expansion of its course offering.  Each course can be licensed individually for any number of students.  For each course, available materials include:

- Instructor slides
- Instructor guide and timing chart
- Participant course book
- Course templates for exercises
- Train the Trainer instruction
- Free shipping

Optional services include branding and course customization.  All courses are designed for either virtual or classroom delivery, and all content is consistent with current practice standards from the PMI® and IIBA®.

Courseware-On-Demand allows training providers to expand their course offerings without the need for course development. As a unique feature, each license includes one complementary participant guide. An annual license for unlimited training is also available.

A complete course list is available here.  Links on that page provide a detailed description of each course.
