FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CVR/IT Consulting LLC Announces the Addition of Three New Courses to their Project Management Curriculum

Topics include Empowering Management to Drive Project Success, Project Change Control and Building and Managing Project Budgets

Raleigh, NC February 9, 2012 – Available immediately, CVR/IT Consulting announces three additions to its Project Management Curriculum.

- Empowering Management to Drive Project Success - This workshop clearly defines management's role in driving project success and presents actionable best practices that manager's can immediately implement. The workshop includes an actual assessment of current management project practice. Course Goal: Enhance the input and guidance that management provides to the selection, funding and oversight of the organization's project portfolio; increase the overall success rate of the organization's projects and programs.

- Project Change Control –This workshop examines how a Project Manager can prepare for and implement effective Change Control in any project. The workshop describes a Change Control methodology that spans from Project Initiation to Project Close. Course Goal: Ensure that only approved changes are introduced into the project, and the impact of each change is fully understood in advance of its implementation.

- Building and Managing Project Budgets - This course delivers practical, hands-on training in the development and management of project budgets. Attendees are shown how to create and manage reproducibly accurate budgets. Course Goal: Preliminary project estimates provide effective guidance to the project selection team; the project budget includes sufficient detail to attain an acceptable level of accuracy; budget forecasts of final project cast are accurate enough to effectively guide project decisions.

These new courses can be useful to anyone who manages projects, manages project managers, or are concerned about attainment of project investment objectives.

Full information about these new courses is available immediately on the company's web site: www.cvr-it.com
